General Information:
info@cathedralschoolny.org
There is no greater indicator of the reality of our fallen world than the daily newspaper. From the front cover to the back page, we all too often witness the ugliness of hate, selfishness and disobedience. So many of our world’s problems are due to our disconnection from God and the veering away from His teachings. The result brings about divisions and breakdowns in our families, our communities, our governments and our nations.

You would think that modern man, with his educational advancement and his technological sophistication, would be better, kinder, healthier and smarter than all previous generations. However, the daily newspaper says something different… and so do the statistics.

Americans are stressed in general, but according to the American Psychological Association’s annual Stress in America survey, Millennials (18-35 year olds), are the most stressed out generation ever. They have been dubbed, “Generation Stress.” The Generation Xers (36-49), are a close second.

Across generations, concerns about money, finances, work and family are the main stressors. And while stress obviously has psychological manifestations like depression and anxiety, the health effects are a growing concern, too.

The American Psychological Association reports that the 82 percent of Millennials who have experienced stress in the past month say their stress has taken a toll on their physical and mental health—a scenario so common that up to 90 percent of U.S. doctor visits are for stress-related issues.

Something is very wrong if this is what our younger generations are dealing with. They are thirsting greatly and are not finding the water that will quench it.

It is undeniable that there is a battle between good vs. evil, right vs. wrong, fulfillment vs. emptiness, self-sacrifice vs. self-gratification, us vs. them, me vs. you. The breakdown of the traditional value system has produced a moral and spiritual vacuum in our society.

We are a product of our environment. It is our society that exerts such an enormous amount of influence on our lives. The underlying belief of a secular society is that life is void of God. It rejects as useless all forms of religious faith and especially worship of God. Both man and the world are seen as self-sufficient, with no need to be obedient to a higher power. If there are some secular people who profess some belief in God or a higher power, then that is relegated to the sphere of private matters and has no bearing on their public or ‘real’ life. This unfortunately is what we are exposed to in our American Society.

The Lord Jesus came to give Abundant Life to The World

St. Innocent of Alaska points us in the right direction when he says, “Every person instinctively strives for happiness. This desire has been implanted by the Creator Himself, and therefore it is not sinful. But it is important to understand that in this temporary life it is impossible to find full happiness, because that comes from God and cannot be attained without Him. Only He, who is the ultimate Good and the source of all good, can quench our thirst for happiness.”

In this midst of the vanity, confusion and suffering of human history, our Lord Jesus Christ enters in as an infant. According to St. Athanasios the Great, the Lord Jesus took human flesh and lived among us for three reasons: a) to restore the Image and knowledge of God in man, b) to redeem man through dying on his behalf, and c) the revivification and divinization of man through reunion with the Divine.

Jesus Christ is “the Way, the Truth and the Life” (Jn 14:6). He speaks the words of God. He does the work of God. He emphatically says to the Samaritan woman then, and to us in America today, “Whoever drinks of this water will thirst again, but whoever drinks of the water that I shall give him will never thirst. But the water that I shall give him will become in him a fountain of water springing up into everlasting life” (Jn 4:13-14).

I am afraid that the Millennials and the Generation Xers are consuming and drinking what is right in front of them; the low hanging fruit of a secular mentality. In 1978, Nobel Peace prize winner Alexander Solzhenitsyn gave the commencement address at Harvard University and emphasized the need for real spirituality when he wrote, “We have placed too much hope in politics and social reforms...”

Alexander Solzhenitsyn, Nobel Peace Prize

The Church is in the world, but not of the world. Christ Himself belongs to the community as the head and we are the members of the body.

In its deepest understanding, the Church is nothing other than the world in the course of transfiguration. Above all, the Church is the power of the Resurrection, the sacrament of the Risen One who imparts His resurrection to us.

Members of the Church are united to God in love, faith, and truth, but also united to one another. This unity of regenerated, illuminated and reunited mankind in Christ, enjoying the new life of the spirit of God in His Church, constitutes precisely the whole and uniting nature of the Church. And what actualized or activates this fellowship is the partaking of the Holy Sacraments of the Church.

Here on Earth, in the world, which had been already redeemed and reconciled with God by the crucified and risen Christ, comes the Holy Spirit of God, to inaugurate the Kingdom of God.
Beginning of the Ecclesiastical New Year
Day for the Protection of our Natural Environment

To the Most Reverend Hierarchs, the Reverend Priests and Deacons, the Monks and Nuns, the Presidents and Members of the Parish Councils of the Greek Orthodox Communities, the Distinguished Archons of the Ecumenical Patriarchate, the Day, Afternoon, and Church Schools, the Philoptochos Sisterhoods, the Youth, the Hellenic Organizations, and the entire Greek Orthodox Family in America

Beloved Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

We give thanks to our merciful and holy God for this blessed opportunity to begin another ecclesiastical year, and we anticipate the witness of His presence and power in our lives and in our worship and work of spreading His Gospel. In addition to the observance of this day as the beginning of a new liturgical cycle, it has also been designated by our beloved Ecumenical Patriarchate as the Day for the Protection of our Natural Environment.

The connection of these two observances is significant in a number of ways. First, this is the beginning of the agricultural year and the cycle of harvesting, tilling, and sowing that is essential to our physical existence. On this day we affirm very clearly the priority of proper stewardship of the natural order to provide for the physical well-being of all humankind.

Second, this is the beginning of our annual observances that connect the present with our witness of the salvific events of the Incarnation, Passion, and Resurrection of our Lord. In our services throughout this cycle, we connect time, space and our natural order to the One who created it and transcends it as we celebrate and experience the power of God’s grace.

Third, as we hear and sing in the hymns of this day, it is a day of hope in which we share with God’s creation the longing for redemption (Romans 8:22-23). It is a day leading us to dedicate the days and months ahead to offering a witness of love, justice and peace.

We anticipate the blessings and provision of our Creator, and as we receive them we will offer thanksgiving and praise. We gather at the beginning of this ecclesiastical year with hearts filled with joy. Our experience of an abundant life in Christ leads us in our mission to the world—to be His voice, to offer the Gospel of truth and love, and to guide others to salvation and His promise of eternal life.

Our experience of an abundant life in Christ leads us in our mission to the world...

May you have a blessed ecclesiastical new year and feast, making its beginning filled with expectations of the glorious works and blessings of Jesus Christ our Lord.

With paternal love in Christ,
† DEMETRIOS
Archbishop of America
The Cathedral Sunday School:
Registration Begins

The Sunday School will begin registration on September 11th and will continue to register children throughout the year. Classes will begin on September 18th. Sunday School is available for all children with a starting age of 40 days old. The Sunday School has been working on a new curriculum, making a learning experience for all children, from infants through teenagers more complete. Children from 40 days to 3 ½ years old, has a mommy and me style circle time. The children learn simple songs and the most elementary Bible stories. One parent will stay with the child and our wonderful nursery school teachers will instruct the class. The 4 to 6 years old, will learn about the basic symbols and values of our church. Most classes will include a craft project. The next age group, the 7 to 9 years old, will begin their focus on learning how to read the Bible and study the Lord’s Prayer. Our 10 to 12 years old will focus on the Sacraments and understanding the Divine Liturgy. We will appeal to our 13 + teenagers with a class that will have more discussions on issues that relate to the church and its teaching and everyday life. Some subjects include “How is our Faith tested?” and “Interfaith Marriages”. Units about the Ten Commandments and comparative Religions are planned as well. We also help all students with learning the Lord’s Prayer, The Creed, and how to do their cross.

We continue our monthly Communion Breakfast: The first Sunday of every month, after Communion, all the children have breakfast in the undercroft of the church and we review the monthly schedule and have a lesson together. The children also participate in the annual Christmas pageant, Easter Festivities and many other church events. We encourage parents to bring their children to Sunday School. The children have developed a strong bond and are enjoying their time together.

We would also like to ask for volunteers and donations. We have many students and we need your support. Please volunteer! We have all the material. The lessons are planned: we all help each other. We want our community to grow and we ask your help to do this. If there are any questions, please contact: Effie Doscas-Butler, (917) 836-0149, or by e-mail edoscas@ziffster.com.

We look forward to seeing everyone in September!

Effie C. Doscas-Butler
Director Sunday School

Our mission is to cultivate the seeds of the Holy Spirit that are within each of our children through worship and education.

JOY MINISTRY

For its third consecutive year the Cathedral will once again offer the JOY (Junior Orthodox Youth) ministry to all Orthodox Christian children ranging from third to sixth grade. Every JOY meeting is designed to afford children the opportunity for fellowship, discussion, and sharing a meal. The discussions typically focus on a contemporary issue or theme. Father John and the advisors will discuss how we should approach and understand these issues from an Orthodox Christian perspective. Along with the discussions, there may be an activity or craft that help enhance the understanding of the discussion. This past Lent, JOY held a retreat where children learned about Holy Week through discussion, a scavenger hunt, Confession, and constructing a Kouvouklion.

Please make every effort to bring your children that are of the appropriate age to this wonderful ministry that our Church offers to its faithful. JOY typically meets every other Friday in the undercroft of the Cathedral School from 6-7:30 pm. Our first JOY meeting will be held on Friday, September 23rd. A tentative schedule for the year will be available at the first meeting.

If you have any questions or need more information please send an email to Diaconissa Georgia Papadopoulos at georgia9578@gmail.com.
Uniquity Goes to the Ball Game: Sometimes You Win, Sometimes You Lose, and Sometimes It Rains

It was a replay straight out of Genesis. There was rain. There was wind. There was a flood on Surf Avenue (and right where you have to cross it, too!) If the skies didn’t open for 40 days, there was certainly a 40-minute rain delay—or two—as Uniquity, the Cathedral’s unmarried ministry, attended Greek Cultural Night with the Brooklyn Cyclones, Friday, July 1 at MCU Park in Coney Island.

The waters did recede in the end. There was a rainbow and plenty of white birds. (Seagulls, or doves? You be the judge!) But, alas! The Lord’s covenant with Noah must not have extended to baseball because, notwithstanding it all, the Cyclones still lost, 5-3, near midnight, as the Connecticut Tigers let loose with a three-run 10th, all but one of them unanswered by the home team.

Earlier in the day, it seemed questionable whether the game would be played at all. But after a flurry of e-mails, team tweets and Accuweather blasts, Uniquity determined that “tornado watch” must really be weather-speak for “watch the Cyclones”, and our members straggled out to Brooklyn.

By the scheduled 7 p.m. start, a rainbow arched over the Thunderbolt, just past the outfield walls, and groundskeepers began uncovering the pitcher’s mound. Rousing Greek tunes drowned out the screams from the rollercoaster, and the Children’s Dancers of Staten Island’s Holy Trinity Church performed on the third-base side as the crew readied the sodden infield for play. An hour later, the national anthem had finally been sung and the ceremonial first pitches thrown. But no sooner had the Cyclones’ Erik Manoah let the first real pitch fly than the bat flew from the hitter’s wet hands, as the skies reopened.

Uniquity dashed for cover, but mercifully, the deluge was relatively brief. Lightning flashed in the distance, but radar showed the storms moving mainly from Bergen County through Upper Manhattan to Queens, sparing us from the brunt. We returned to our seats, wiped them off, and the game resumed. (Given the outcome, though, perhaps the Cyclones wished they had called it!)

The hardy band that stuck out the 109 minutes of cumulative rain delay scored free tickets to the July 3 game, on top of an assortment of baseball swag (hats, barbecue aprons and even a Cyclones shirt snagged by one lucky member, as they were tossed from the rafters by the team mascots during the 7th inning stretch) and, most importantly, an overflowing jumbo souvenir beer cup’s worth of fellowship!

Uniquity, the Cathedral’s community-building ministry for its single, widowed and divorced members, is now on hiatus until the fall, but look for announcements in August of our upcoming season.

This year’s Spring Luncheon was held for the fourth consecutive year at the Central Park Loeb Boathouse on May 24, 2016. Despite the inclement weather the event was a huge success. All our guests were happy to see each other. Our guest speaker Ambassador Eleni Tsakopoulos-Kounalakis presented her book “Madame Ambassador.” She spoke eloquently and shared her experience as the first Greek American woman to serve as an ambassador in Hungary. Each of our guests received a copy of her book that was generously donated by the author.

As our guests were enjoying mingling with each other, they bought raffles and did their spring shopping at the boutiques, which are always a big hit bringing 20% of their proceeds to Philoptochos.

The Annual Spring Luncheon benefits the Cathedral Philoptochos Scholarship Fund, which was established in 2007. The Fund has helped over 30 students who attend the Cathedral School and are in need of financial assistance with their tuition.

This year we were able to support four students. We would like to thank everyone who supported our Spring Luncheon for such a noble cause!

At the graduation of the Cathedral School on June 13, 2016, the Archdiocesan Cathedral Philoptochos represented by our President, awarded a monetary gift to the Valedictorian. This has been a tradition for many years.

The Archdiocesan Cathedral Philoptochos is sponsoring this summer two students from the Hellenos House to attend the camp at St. Basil in Garrison, New York and two students from our welfare cases to attend Camp St. Paul in Connecticut.

We have fulfilled our National Philoptochos and Direct Archdiocesan obligations.

The Archdiocesan Cathedral Philoptochos Society continues to sponsor the coffee hour every Sunday after the Divine Liturgy.

We also continue the “Feed the Homeless Program” which we sponsor together with Jan Hus Church.

The Cathedral School:
Things that Matter Most

KRISTINE CECERE, Head of School

I have always felt that Rita Pierson said it most eloquently when she stated that, “Every child deserves a champion – an adult who will never give up on them, who understands the power of connection, and insists that they become the best that they can possibly be.” It is my distinct honor to be joining the Cathedral community as the new Head of School and with Pierson’s words in mind, to become the champion of each and every one of the incredibly, inquisitive, thoughtful and engaging students at TCS.

I am fortunate to have had the opportunity to put what matters most, the education and development of children, at the forefront of my work for the last 17 years. There is nothing as rewarding as watching a child have that moment where a concept falls into place. Creating an environment designed to support the success of each student, not just academically but as a whole person, is my primary objective. Understanding the value of connection is critical to the success of each child, the connection to family and to community, the connection to the teacher and the connection to the school environment. These connections support high expectations, foster self esteem and create a culture that values a safe and welcoming environment where all students are comfortable taking risks.

The importance of connections is evident in the traditions of The Cathedral School’s mission and the work that is carried out every day by teachers and parents. I am delighted to work at a school that embraces an education in “body, mind and spirit,” that values compassion and fosters a love of learning. The Cathedral School has a long tradition of educating students in the classics. As someone who was educated in the classics, I am deeply aware of its philosophical importance and value. Through the classics, Cathedral children learn what it means to be a citizen, that an “educated person is one who is thoughtful, kind and considerate; one who has a proper regard for the rights, the liberties and the privileges of his fellow men. He does not think of himself as the center around which mankind or his neighborhood revolves” (the educational ideal of the Three Hierarchs of the Greek Orthodox Church in the fourth century AD). Discovering how to marry self awareness with a larger global perspective and to have the relationships that connect us and inform our development lies at the heart of a meaningful education.

The privilege to work in this environment is not one taken lightly. I look forward to maintaining the important traditions of the school while embracing new challenges and continuing to foster the connections each student needs be successful. I am always thrilled at the start of the new school year and the exciting journey that lies ahead with exceptional educators, dedicated parents and most of all, enthusiastic children.

Bookstore Review

NEW AT THE CATHEDRAL FELLOWSHIP BOOKSTORE

The Art of Seeing: A pioneering new work on Byzantine iconography

The Art of Seeing is a beautiful book by Father Maximos Constas, formerly Associate Professor of Theology at Harvard Divinity School, and now Senior Research Scholar at Holy Cross Greek Orthodox School of Theology. As renowned scholar in his field, Father Maximos has crafted an illuminating book that explores Byzantine iconography in refreshing new ways. Through masterful prose that incorporates aesthetics, art history, and patristic theology, each of its four chapters grapples with a different theme in Byzantine iconography as viewed through the lens of Orthodox theology. These themes include: the enigmatic face of the sixth-century Sinai Christ icon, the paradoxes of the Annunciation, the iconography of the Byzantine warrior saints (such as St. George), and an insightful discussion of the contemporary theology of the “icon screen.” In an age of endless distractions, Father Maximos delightedly invites us to experience a world of paradoxical wonders that are associated with the Byzantine icon; we are called to be attentive to the sacred image, and to open ourselves to “another form that is different from me, which actively approaches me from outside of myself, and offers itself to me as a gift, welling up to the surface from some mysterious depth.”

This magnificent book is essential for anyone desiring a deeper and more meaningful understanding of Byzantine iconography, culture, and patristic theology. Copies can be purchased from our Cathedral Bookstore, which also contains a wide array of Orthodox publications for both adults and children.

Our bookstore is open every Sunday immediately after liturgy during our community fellowship. Our dedicated volunteer, Chuck Connant, manages our bookstore and will be more than happy to assist you. Please stop by and browse our store and feel free to peruse Fr. Maximos’ beautiful new publication.
